TACIT GERMAN ADMISSION MADE THAT RUSSIA'S MAIN DEFENSES IN CAUCASUS CANNOT BE BROKEN DURING THIS WINTER

Nazis Capture Nalchik As Counter-Attacking Soviet Forces Lash Savagely at Enemy at Stalingrad — German Advances S. E. of Nalchik Admitted

MOSCOW, Nov. 3—(INS)—Tacit German admission that Russia's main defenses in the Caucasus cannot be broken this winter was seen by foreign observers in the Nazi capture of Nalchik today as counter-attacking Soviet forces lashed savagely at the enemy at Stalingrad.

The noon communique of the Soviet high command admitted further German advances southeast of Nalchik in an effort to reach military highways leading to the Tiflis and Baku oilfields following three large-scale attacks.

But the sudden diversion of the German Caucasian army from Mzok in order to capture the little dead-end provincial capital of Nalchik regardless of the cost in men and materials was believed by foreign observers to indicate that Adolf Hitler has abandoned hope of smashing the main Russian resistance in the Caucasus before the heavy snows come.

The Republic of Kabardino-Balkaria, of which Nalchik is capital, is rich in grain fields, orchards, hydro-electric power and molybdenum. But its military value is negligible compared to such gateway cities as Stalingrad, Mzok and Tula. It seems likely that the Germans felt the increasing need of winter quarters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—(INS)—Despite America's "signal success" in the current Solomon battle, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox warned today against undue optimism over the south Pacific situation.

"There is no warrant for optimism," Knox said at his press conference this morning. "It's still a bitter, tough fight. They—the Japanese—have a fleet of formidable proportions left."

"It's dangerous to assume that they won't be back."

He referred specifically to newspaper headlines following the Navy's official announcement that U. S. Marines on Guadalcanal advanced two miles against the Japanese and that the enemy forces were "retreating slowly" in one sector near Henderson airfield.

The Secretary emphasized the conservative manner in which the Navy communicates reported damage to the Japanese. He referred specifically to a night naval battle on October 11th which the Navy reported ended in the

OPENS REVIVAL HERE

REV. BRONWEN DAVIES CLIFFORD

Speaking before an audience which filled the auditorium of the Bristol Presbyterian Church in the first meeting of a two weeks revival campaign, last night, the Rev. Bronwen Davies Clifford, America's Youth Preacher, called upon people to enter into what he called "real Christianity." Using as his first subject, "What Is Christianity?", Rev. Clifford pointed out that Christianity is not a religion, or a creed or a doctrine, but it is Christ—revealing God to the world.

He said: "Everybody's got religion, because religion is that inborn desire within every life that causes them to seek after God. Christ is the complete satisfaction to a man's religious desires."

Rev. Clifford will be preaching every night for the next two weeks in the Presbyterian Church. The services begin nightly at 7:30 p. m. The other churches of the community are cooperating in this special evangelistic effort.

The subject of tonight's service will be "Revival!—How? When? Where?" Before the service each night Mr. Clifford will lead the congregation in a song service.

Fleetwings Engineering Dept. Aids Relief Funds

The sum of $100 for the Army Relief and $100 for the Navy Relief was donated on Friday evening by employees of the engineering department of Fleetwings, Inc.

Presentation was made on the occasion of a buffet dance held at Holmesburg Country Club, which was attended by 300, including employees and guests.

Miss Muriel Hutton, secretary to R. W. Ayer, chief engineer, made the presentation, the Navy donation being accepted by Lt. A. M. Bieler; and the sum for the Army being acknowledged by Capt. Robert L. Hayes.

Vice-President of Fleetwings, Carl deGanahl, spoke briefly.

RELATES THRILLING STORY OF SEA TRIP

Pirano Loverdoss Was On Ship Torpedoed in The Icy Arctic

WAS RESCUED AT SEA

SELLERSVILLE, Nov. 3—Pirano Loverdoss, middle-aged Kellers Church farmer, has returned from the most thrilling sea voyage of his career.

As chief engineer on a merchant ship that put out from Russia recently, Loverdoss had considerable responsibility. The ship was torpedoed in the icy Arctic Ocean. He donned his lifebelt and, with other members of

Minkema Home is Scene Of A Masquerade Social

The B. Y. P. U. of Calvary Baptist Church enjoyed a Halloween party Saturday evening in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Minkema. Prizes for costumes were won by Louis Tomlinson, most original; Walter Tomlinson, comic; and Miss Grace Barth, fancy dress. Games were played and refreshments served buffet style.

Others present: Betty and Pearl Greenlee, Ida Roberts, Mrs. Thomas Argust, Jane and Joanne Argust, Elwood Dyer, Mrs. Conrad DenBleyker, Esther and Vera Tomlinson, Ronald Argust, Mrs. Elwood Dyer, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weik, Evelyn DenBleyker, Mrs. John McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. Maris Hart and daughter Judith, Harold DenBleyker, Robert Weik, Jr., John Weik, Donald Nichols, Bristol; Mrs. Thomas Bowers, Elva and Ruth Bowers, Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Bauer and daughter Joan; Croydon; Mrs. Rufus King and Miss Helen Hertzler, Tullytown; Lorraine Runyon, Eddington.

TO DEDICATE FLAG

EDDINGTON, Nov. 3—Members of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, will worship at the evening service in Christ Episcopal Church, Sunday evening at eight o'clock. A service flag, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robinson, Croydon Manor, will be dedicated.

TO THE VOTERS OF BUCKS COUNTY:

Cards are being circulated among and statements are being made to the voters of Bucks County indicating that a voter can vote a straight Party ticket and still vote for an individual candidate of an opposite Party. This is deceptive and misleading, as the only straight ticket for all of the candidates of a Party is an "X" marked in the Party square opposite the Party of your choice. Any other marking is not a straight Party ticket.

GENERAL MARTIN URGES ALL TO PULL TOGETHER IN A GREAT EFFORT TO END THE WAR

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 3—Major General Edward Martin, the Republican nominee for Governor, last night promised that if elected today he would do everything in his power "to make sure that all our people work together and pull together" in the war effort.

In a State-wide broadcast originating here, Martin briefly reviewed his campaign pledges, confining most of his speech to a discussion of the necessity of winning the war.

General Martin spoke as follows: "The political campaign that began in early April in Pennsylvania closes tonight."

We have tried to conduct it in the old-fashioned American way of stating our principles and discussing the issues as we saw them. If we have offended in any way against this policy, we ask the indulgence of our good friends and the forgiveness of our political enemies.

I entered this campaign at the earnest request of thousands of Pennsylvanians—of thousands of my friends

"WASP" SURVIVOR HAS THRILLING EXPERIENCE

John Toth, Morrisville, Tells of Fighting Fire on Lost Aircraft Carrier

WAS PAINFULLY BURNED

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 3—John Toth, home on furlough after surviving the sinking of the U. S. Aircraft Carrier Wasp, has a thrilling story to tell. Toth, a first class motor machinist's mate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Toth, Prospect avenue.

The young man states that when the first torpedo hit the "Wasp" he was combing his hair in the Diesel compartment.

Council at Hulmeville Holds November Session

HULMEVILLE, Nov. 3—Miscellaneous items of business came before Hulmeville borough council, at a session in the town hall last evening. Norman Davis presided, with other councilmen present including Reginald Webb, George Bilger, A. E. A. Bronson, and Alvin Schoenfeld.

State Workmen's Insurance was ordered paid; and council likewise voted to give the annual donation of $100 to the William Penn Fire Company, this being used for the firemen's insurance fund. The group tabled a bill received as a share in the Bucks County Civilian Defense Control Center. Statement from tax collector, Horace C. Cox, showed the sum of $220.06 collected in borough taxes during July, August and September.

The street and highway committee received word from the contractors, Weller & Weller, that repairs to the shoulders on Hulme street will be made next week. It was reported likewise that street signs are now in place. The barrier on Water street at the foot of Estill Alley is yet to be replaced. Two street lights, reported out during the past month, are now burning.

The nuisance of dogs running at large was brought before the meeting, and a state representative is to be requested to come into the borough to dispose of dogs found on the streets, unattended.

Constable Orville Morris, speaking for the local defense set-up, stated that members of Hulmeville troop of Boy Scouts are serving as messengers during black-outs. He stated that five white caps have been secured for the boys.

Councilman Bilger reported that William Penn Fire Co. is applying for a relief charter, and after such is granted the company will care for its own relief fund.

Report from the borough treasurer, Miss Grace H. Illick, showed a balance on October 5th of $1471.08, with bills paid on that date of $80, leaving a balance of $1391.08. Receipts since that time included: Rent of borough hall for primary election, $5; October 28th, Fire Insurance tax fund, $204.65, making a treasury balance of $1600.23. Secretary Frank Forker read bill totals of: Workmen's Insurance, $161.20; Philadelphia Electric Co. (current for two months), $124.50; E. Pickering, borough maps, $5; making a total of $290.20.

Methodist Church Folks Hold Supper Conference

A supper-conference of members of the Bristol Methodist Church was held last evening and attended by approximately 80 members of the church. It was presided over by the Rev. W. E. Preston Haas.

Following the enjoyment of the supper menu reports were made to the membership by the official board, trustees, trustees of the parsonage mortgage and the various church societies and the Sunday School.

All of these reports indicated a healthy condition and interesting plans for future activities were outlined.

The Parsonage Mortgage Trustees made a report which was exceedingly interesting. The mortgage trustees are Harold Hunter, Howard Case and Wilson Smith. It is their duty to attend to retiring the mortgage on the new parsonage and to paying the interest on that mortgage.

Last night it was reported that all the indebtedness of razing the old parsonage, and building the new one has been paid with the exception of $3500. The parsonage was financed by members of the church making generous contributions and by subscribing to mortgage participating certificates. Fourteen certificates totaling $700 were paid off last night. Pledges have been made by members to contribute $2000 during the year toward retiring this debt.

There were interesting pictures shown by Lawrence Naeff.

In appreciation of the work done in behalf of the church Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smoyer were presented with a baby's play pen for their young son, Howard.

RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS IN FUEL RATIONING

School Teachers From Bristol and Bensalem to Aid in The Task

URGE ALL TO BE PROMPT

A meeting was held in the office of the Rationing Board yesterday afternoon for the purpose of instructing those who are to have charge of the fuel rationing. A representative from the O. P. A. office in Philadelphia was present as was also a committee of three male teachers from the Bensalem High School and also three from the Bristol High School who are to compute the rationing. The method to be employed has already been published in the Courier.

Many residents are asking how to compute the fuel rationing on properties not classified under private dwellings. It was explained that after the forms which apply to the different types of buildings have been made out and all the questions answered, the amount of fuel oil to be allotted will

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Heavy Fighting On In Egyptian Desert

Cairo—The clash of armored units reverberated throughout the western desert of Egypt today as Allied and Axis tank forces engaged in heavy fighting after a smashing new attack in which the British Eighth Army made an important advance south of the El Alamein coastal area.

Warfare was intensified throughout a wide area of North Africa as Allied forces ranged afar to deliver heavy blows against vital Axis bases in Libya, on the island of Crete and at sea.

Direct hits were scored upon two Axis destroyers by heavy bombers which attacked southwest of Crete. An Axis merchantman was set afire when an escorted convoy seeking to supply German and Italian forces was attacked off the Libyan port of Tobruk.

Rommel's Right Flank Jeopardized

London—Nazi General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's whole right flank should be jeopardized if Allied forces in Egypt are able to exploit their latest smashing advance south of the El Alamein coastal area, an authoritative British spokesman said today.

The most important feature of the new advance by Lieut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's forces is that it was achieved to the south of the El Alamein and Sidi El Rahman sector of the Mediterranean coast, the spokesman said.

LIGHT VOTE BEING POLLED IN COUNTY DURING EARLY HOURS

Bucks County Expects To Give General Martin 6,000 Majority

FINAL APPEALS MADE

Rival Candidates Spoke Over The Radio Last Night

The lightest vote in many years is anticipated in Bucks county today in the first wartime, general election since 1918.

Bucks county, always Republican, is looked upon to give General Edward Martin for Governor, at least 6,000 majority, and more, if the vote is gotten out.

There are 33,526 Republicans, 15,401 Democrats and 1911 No Party registrations in Bucks county. Last year the Republican plurality was 9749, which was the vote polled by Prothonotary Homer S. Wentz over his Democratic opponent.

During the early hours of today the voting was very light in Bristol and surrounding area but it is expected that most of the balloting will take place later this afternoon and this evening.

Republicans were confident and Democrats hopeful as millions of voters went to the polls today in Pennsylvania's wartime election.

The final appeals for the electorate's support were over and only the casting and counting of the ballots remained to decide the victors in the race for six statewide offices, including Governor, the General Assembly and Congress. The polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Despite the importance of the election.

Dancing will follow the dinner.

By-Laws Committee Is Named, Newport C. D. A.

The Newport Citizens Defense Association at a meeting last evening appointed a committee to draw up by-laws for the organization to be presented for adoption at election of officers on January 15th. Serving on the committee are: Raymond Berger, John VanAlstyne, Benjamin Warring, Mrs. Walter Fox, Mrs. E. Paul Patton.

William Foster reported that a telephone will be installed at the information center this week.

Walter Gillette, president, announced that a drive for junior members for the organization is in progress, boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 16 being accepted.

Mrs. Munchback, chairman of the service flag committee, told the chairman that the quota is almost reached, and asked the association to decide on the size of the flag desired. Decision was made to purchase a flag 68x feet.

Charles Paulson asked the chairman if he might build and present an honor roll for the C. D. A., and permission was granted. Mr. Paulson is president of Newport Fire Company.

SUBJECT "BLACKOUTS"

Chief Air Raid Warden John Healey will address sixth sector wardens and auxiliary police on the subject of "Blackouts," in the Bristol high school auditorium tonight at eight o'clock.

AMES, Iowa, Nov. 3—Richard J. Monus, 917 Beaver street, Bristol, Pa., recently was graduated from the new naval school for electricians on the campus of Iowa State College here.

Monus, who carried an excellent record throughout the intensive 16-week course, was granted an immediate promotion to the petty rating of fireman, third class.

The 225 men in this graduating class studied such courses as electrical theory and methods, machinery and wiring, mathematics, military drill and naval procedure.

The men in the class will be assigned to active duty, with the fleet or in a naval shore station, where their training in the electrical field will be continued.

PREPARATIONS IN EGYPT

Evidences of Nazi fear over the strength America has brought to the British in Egypt are well grounded. The Nazis are alarmed at the prospect that Anglo-American power may be sufficient to break the stalemate there. When it does, the Axis will be swept out of Africa.

Rommel has been able to make a stand by digging his tanks into the sand to form pillboxes. These are flanked by anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns. His position has become a defensive one, indicating that for the present at least the Axis has given up hope of driving to Suez.

The British and Americans are harrying Rommel constantly from the air. They are smashing bases and Axis reinforcements trying to get through. The Allies now have for the first time in the General Grants a tank fire power equal at least to that of the German machines.

Tank inferiority has hampered the British in the past. A Nazi advantage also has been in their anti-tank artillery firing fifteen 20-pound shells per minute. But the British are getting twenty-five pounders on the scene, which will permit them to outgun Rommel.

Both sides are industriously re-fueling for the conflict to come. The Axis has the advantage of a shorter haul but the Allies are largely cancelling that through superior air power. America has a great supply depot in Eritrea, the supplies are pouring in steadily and there is reason to hope that when the issue is joined Rommel will be on the weak side, as Berlin fears.

TRYING TO HEAD IT OFF

New York City has launched a voluntary meat conservation campaign in an effort to head off compulsory rationing of meat which has been announced as coming on January 1, with a limit to the individual of two and one-half pounds a week if he is over twelve years of age; one and one-half pounds if he is between six and twelve years, and one-half pound if he is under six.

New York's plan is to conserve meat by observance of meatless Tuesday. Stands serving frankfurters and hamburgers are the only exceptions to vegetable day. Hotels and restaurants are asked to refrain from serving at Tuesday meals cuts of beef, veal, pork, lamb or mutton. And operators of delicatessen stores are asked not to sell any meat products not served that day by restaurants.

Hotels and eating places can serve on Tuesday such items as fish, poultry, liver, hearts, kidneys, sweetbreads, brains, tongue, tripe, pigs' feet, scrapple, oxtails and shanks.

COMMUNICATION

Croydon, Pa.,
October 30, 1942

Editor
The Bristol Courier
Dear Sir:

If it is possible I wish you would print this letter in your paper; it may in some way save a life or someone's home.

I am on a telephone party-line with perhaps eight or ten others. On Wednesday of last week, a neighbor, Mr. Frank Kirk, awoke to find his house afire. He quickly made his way to my home and asked me to call the fire department. When I lifted the receiver I found someone using the line and I explained to them it was an emergency. Would they please hang up. After waiting a few seconds I again tried to call the fire department and found that someone had removed the receiver, and the whole line was dead.

I pleaded with them that a house was burning; but to no avail. Mr. Kirk meanwhile had called a neighbor with a car to notify the fire department.

If the people on a party line would only realize that even though the phone ringing disturbs someone sleeping, or wakes the baby up, it might be a vital call to someone else on the line. Therefore it is not fair to the others on the line to remove the receiver from the telephone. I called the telephone company and they informed me that all the subscribers must cooperate and therefore I ask that you print this letter because a man's home could possibly have been saved to a much greater extent than it was.

Thanking you for your kindness in the matter, I remain,
Respectfully yours,
MRS. WILLIAM WELLER,
2nd Ave., Croydon

In the most attractive costume, Harry McKinney, who was judged to be the funniest, and William Lauble, the youngest person to be masked.

After the winners were selected games were played and prizes were awarded the winners.

Three members of the Grange, Mrs. Charles Lownes, Mrs. George H. Yerkes and Mrs. William P. Newbold, all of whom observe birthday anniversaries in October, presented a short program.

At the close of the meeting doughnuts, cookies and cider were served.

Over 6000 garments were on exhibition at the tea and garment display held by the Doylestown Branch of the Needlework Guild of America in the Presbyterian Education Building at Doylestown.

The garments will be sent to 25 charities in Philadelphia.

The committee in charge of the tea which was open to the public, included Mrs. George Willard, chairman; Mrs. William R. Mercer, Mrs. William E. Gell, Mrs. Henry J. Berger, Mrs. John C. Swartley and Mrs. Irwin Vanlunae.

BY WRITING 25 WORDS OR LESS
JUST FINISH THIS SENTENCE:
"My family is drinking more milk today because"

Milk has long been known as the most nearly perfect food. It supplies a treasure trove of minerals and vitamins. These promote buoyant health—So necessary today when the nation needs your all-out effort on the job.

One of the most important minerals in milk is calcium. It reduces the irritability of tissues and relaxes muscles. And milk contains several times as much calcium as any other common food—in readily assimilable form.

That is why milk can help overcome those "war nerves" that most of us have today—the result of working under pressure and living in a hectic wartime world.

Your own family may have benefited from milk. Why not tell us about it. You may win a $25 War Savings Bond.

You'll find they'll like Supplee Sealtest Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. It tastes better and is better for everyone. Order from your Supplee milkman, your neighborhood store or phone Bristol 2117.

MILK Is No. 1 With NUTRITIONISTS

For your guidance, America's foremost nutritionists have created simple, easy diets to assure you the utmost food value in every meal. Milk is No. 1 on every one of these diets—at least a pint a day for every adult—a quart for each child. Of course, milk does not do the whole job, but it's a "must" on any adequate diet.*

*One pint of milk supplies an adult's daily requirements of the following food elements in approximately the proportions shown: Calcium, 7/10 of all required; Vitamin A, 1/5; Vitamin B1, 1/7; Vitamin B2, 2/5; Protein, 1/4; Niacin, 1/7; Iron, 1/12; Calories, 1/9.

"OWLS" AND BRISTOL JR. VARSITIES PLAY SCORELESS CONTEST

Bensalem Team Twice Put Up Gallant Stands On The One-Yard Line

OWLS HAD ONLY 12 MEN

Collins, With Aid of Oriola, Did Good Job of Pitching Forward Passes

Although outplayed, the Bensalem Junior Varsity eleven managed to hold Bristol's Junior Varsity to a scoreless deadlock on the high school field here yesterday afternoon.

The Bensalem team twice put up gallant stands on its one-yard line to prevent Bristol from scoring and on two other occasions it was forced to boot from behind its own goal line because the Bristol team was threatening.

There was no doubt that the Bunnies' reserves outplayed their foes as they registered a great number of first downs. And to top this Collins' kicks were always rolling out of bounds, preventing the Owls' backs from running them back and pushing them in their own corner.

Besides punting, Collins with the aid of "Tohy" Oriola did a great job of pitching forward passes. If Paoletti had caught several of the passes he had in the open there was no stopping of the Bristol team. As it was, he did catch three that led to the near-touchdowns.

Coach Charlie Utz's youngsters put up a great defense against the boys from Cornwells Heights and stopped them on almost every occasion. Only Foster seemed to gain continually for the Bensalemites but his efforts weren't enough as the other plays were smeared.

In justice to Coach "Woody" Wetherhold of the Owl Juniors, it must be stated that he was without reserves. He came to Bristol with just twelve players and that one extra had to be used in all positions.

When asked why a shortage of replacements, Coach Wetherhold said: "At Bensalem just twenty-three players reported for football, and after taking my starting eleven, there is the Junior Varsity squad."

Light Vote Being Polled In County During Early Hours

tion only a light vote was anticipated, with predictions that perhaps as few as 50 per cent of the 4,600,000 eligible voters might exercise the right of franchise. A strange apathy has shrouded the entire campaign. The Republicans have a majority in registered voters of approximately 650,000.

Auditor General F. Clair Ross and Adjutant General Edward Martin, Democratic and Republican candidates for Governor respectively, around whose campaign interest has largely centered, made their final appeals last night over the radio. Ross spoke from Sharon and Martin from Pittsburgh. Ross will vote at Butler, while Martin will cast his ballot at his home in Washington.

In addition to Governor, voters will cast their ballots for Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Justice of the Supreme Court, Judge of the Superior Court, and Representative-at-Large in Congress and will also elect, by districts, 32 Congressmen, 25 State Senators and 208 Assemblymen. In the congressional races, 14 Republicans and 14 Democrats are seeking re-election. At present, 17 of the 34 seats in the lower house of Congress are held by Democrats and 16 by Republicans, while one is vacant. Due to reapportionment, only 33 Congressmen are being elected today. Neither of the state's two U. S. senators are up for election this year.

Five parties appear on the ballot. Among the three minor parties, only the Prohibition party has candidates in the race for all six statewide offices, while the United Pension Party and the Socialist-Labor Party are running candidates only for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Receive Instructions In Fuel Rationing

be one-third less than last year. The winter last year was a mild one and if this winter should be more severe then twelve per cent may be added to the amount used last year less the one-third.

The question was asked about aged folks who need a temperature higher than sixty-five degrees. They must obtain a certificate from their physician stating that they are ill and require more than 65 degrees of heat and then fill out a separate form to be filed with the Board. The fuel oil committee will consider the situation and if they approve the extra rations will be allotted.

Sometime ago it was stated that under the new plan with a larger Board that the committee on gasoline rationing would meet but once a week. All applications for gasoline rationing no matter when filed must wait for approval until Wednesday afternoon when the committee meets. "This will be a hardship on many people but the rationing board can do nothing but obey instructions," said a board member.

The public is asked to send in their forms now for fuel oil rationing and not wait until November 15th. By doing this the work of the committee of teachers will be greatly lessened and congestion will be avoided. It should be remembered that the president and secretary of the Board can be seen at the rationing office at any time during the day, and they will be glad to help in making out the forms. Some of the forms that have been sent in have been made out wrong and have been returned to the applicant. It must be remembered that the size of each room in square feet must be recorded in the place provided. The certificate from the dealer giving the amount of fuel oil used last year must also accompany the form. Another important item is the inventory on October 1st. Unless these three important questions are answered the form will have to be returned to be corrected.

If at any time technical knowledge is required the applicant may consult Herbert A. Pettit or George Peterson, who are the consulting engineers for fuel oil rationing.

destruction of one Japanese cruiser, four destroyers and one transport. Since that time, Knox said he had occasion to talk to Vice Admiral Robert H. Chormley who told him actually five destroyers and three enemy cruisers probably were sunk in the engagement.

partment. This compartment is located on the starboard side, forward. The explosion shook the ship, but as everything on the top side looked all right, Toth said he did not realize anything unusual was happening at first. Along with the other men off duty at the time, he went up the ladder just as another explosion occurred and the compartment rapidly filled with smoke.

Heading for his battle station, he found he could not get through because of fire, so went up to the hangar deck and started fighting the raging flames. The men on the deck were clearing the planes and attempting to isolate half the ship with a water screen.

Continuing his story, Toth said: "I hooked up a water connection reaching from the after part of the ship, and as I was advancing forward, all at once the place lit up and there was a terrific explosion. The concussion lifted me in the air, and I landed on the deck, shielding my face. When I got up the place was in darkness and I could not see, but by feeling an air-plane propeller I could tell which way the planes were facing and started forward."

Toth, suffering first, second and third degree burns on the arms, continued on his way to the elevator pit and began helping a group of men throwing overboard anything that would float, to aid the men already in the water without lifejackets. During this time, the men were rapidly leaving the boat, and Toth, attired only in shorts and lifejacket, slid down the ropes into the water, where, according to him, "the water, although rough, felt so good after the heat of the burning ship, and the tension on board, that it was a relief to get in it."

Swimming toward a destroyer that at first seemed close by, Toth came to a raft and clung to it until he and his party were picked up about three hours later. Taken on board he was treated for his burns, which by this time were badly in need of medical attention.

Toth, a graduate of Morrisville High School in 1938, enlisted in the Navy, February 13, 1940, and boarded the "Wasp," his first ship, on April 29th of that year.

Following his leave here, he will report to a new station in New York for further duties.

the crew was rescued by a British fighting vessel. They were torpedoed by a fleet of sea planes too, before being rescued.

The Kellers Church part-time farmer came home with the lifebelt that saved him and said he is going to take a good rest. He helped shoot down four enemy planes and saw his friends being mowed down as they tried to swim to safety. The Nazis machine gunned the survivors in a thrilling sea battle, the details of which will no doubt be kept a secret until many weeks pass.

Loverdoss came in at New York and was glad to join his wife, Penelope, and 15-year-old daughter, Diana. He has conducted a farm in the Kellers Church section for about 20 years. He has been in the Naval Reserve. He figures that the war will last another year unless the rumored second front is begun soon.

General Martin Urges All To Pull Together In A Great Effort To End The War

great orchard counties, its wheat fields and its vineyards. I have watched the weaving of cloth for the uniforms of our fighting men.

I have seen their weapons, their bayonets, their rifle barrels, their anti-tank guns, their anti-aircraft artillery and their gas masks being shaped and forged for them.

I have seen the great tanks, the combat cars, the jeeps and the fighting planes rolling off the assembly lines.

I did all this because I recognize the greatness of the task that lies before your war time governor. I did this so that I might better understand and be better prepared to help on the home front of war production.

This is no ordinary campaign year. I did not try to conduct an ordinary political campaign.

For I know, as has been said over and over again in recent months—we can lose this war right here in Pennsylvania.

We can lose by failing to produce weapons and food and ships. We can lose by listening to the preachers of disunity.

We can lose by hearkening to the merchants of hate.

We can lose by shirking a little, or lagging a little.

We can lose by failing to support the flower of our young manhood that has gone out to die, if need be, in the far places of the earth.

I want to see—and I intend to see—that we do not lose.

I feel that if my campaign has done nothing else, it has at least helped to arouse the State of Pennsylvania to the danger that threatens every one of us.

Through the early Spring, through the Summer and down through the Autumn, this Nation and this State have felt the darkness of Gethsemane closing around them. We have seen our sons, by the thousands and the tens of thousands, walking deeper into the Valley of the Shadow.

It has been hard for all of us—for the candidates appealing to the people and for the people gathered at political meetings or listening in their homes—to keep in mind the State issues that should be debated.

Yet, these are important. Taxation is important for the people must not be over-burdened with taxes. Our Federal levies are increasing to meet the costs of war. It is the duty of our State, County and local governments to make every dollar do the work of two and reduce their taxation wherever possible.

Education is vital. Our children must not be cheated of their rights. They must not be allowed to grow up as ignorant citizens. We must never have another "Lost Generation." The schools and the churches are the bulwarks of our liberty. Our roads must not be neglected. Pennsylvania's magnificent highway system is vital to our production, to our home transportation and to our armed forces in this war.

Even in a period of decreasing highway revenues, roads must be maintained and extended wherever possible. Our laws must be fair to labor. The rights of the workers must be respected. There must be sympathy, confidence, co-operation and understanding between employer and employee.

The basic industry of this Commonwealth is agriculture. Our people must be fed, our armies must be fed, for food is the most vital weapon of war. The problems of our farms will become increasingly important as the war continues.

Home rule is important. We will need more and more of it as the rules, regulations and orders of war time close in upon us.

There are many, many other State issues, other problems of this Commonwealth that have been discussed since the opening of this campaign in the early days of April.

But all of these are important only if we survive as a free people. If we lose this war, wages and profits will mean nothing. Any advantage one group of us might gain over another, I will mean nothing. Losses or gains will mean nothing and all that we have done, all that we have accomplished, all our hopes and dreams of American greatness, of liberty and justice, will pass as a tale that is told.

So many of our people, even at this late day, fail to understand that. To them the voices of ambition and selfishness are louder than the thunder of the guns in the Solomons.

To them, their own demands, their own ambitions are dearer than freedom and more desirable than the shining assurances of liberty.

So many of us cannot or will not understand that we are facing a war of extermination, like the wars of thousands of years ago. They will not see that this is war in which whole nations may become extinct and the places that knew them shall know them no more.

We are all in this war. In this struggle there are no party lines, no color lines, no distinctions of race, sex, creed or color.

I have never tried to tell you that if you elect me as your next Governor you will win this war. I have never tried to tell you that if you defeat me you will lose this war. There is no single mortal man who can lose this war or win this war for you.

For, it is in your hands—in the hands of all the people of Pennsylvania and all the people of all the United States—that our ultimate defeat or our final victory now rests.

If you work, if you sacrifice, if you give everything that is in you—then we will win. If you do not—we will lose.

And—no man can change that.

What I have said—and what I say for one last time—is this: If you elect me to be your war time Governor I will do everything in my power as the head of your State government, to make sure that all our people work together and pull together.

No man can do more than just that. No Governor can force through a law that will win this war. No Governor can issue a proclamation that will win even one battle.

No Governor can do more than be your captain—the captain of this gallant company of Pennsylvania that is so willing to do all it can.

During this campaign I have been asked exactly what my program for the next four years will be. Had I been thinking in terms of votes I might have given soft and pleasing answers to everybody. I have not tried to do that. First, because I do not believe any political candidate should trade promises for votes. Second, because no man can foresee what changes, chances and disasters these next four years may bring forth.

I can only say then that my administration of the State will be like your own commonsense administration of your own personal affairs. I will do the best I can with what I have to work with, and we will make what we have go just as far as possible.

Here in Pennsylvania we are arming ourselves and our Allies. We are turning out more than one fourth of all the United Nations' critical war materials. Before the war ends one million of our sons will be in uniform. With Pennsylvania carrying this tremendous burden of war, it is vitally important that you exercise your most careful judgment in choosing your Governor for the next four years. I do not want you to choose me unless you are convinced in your hearts that I am the man for the job.

Ask yourself, tomorrow, what candidate on what ballot you believe is best fitted to help bring about the end of this war. For ladies and gentlemen there will be little happiness, little sunshine in the homes of Pennsylvania until this war is won, our land is at peace and our boys are back home with us again.

Tomorrow we face a challenge and a responsibility. In the name of my dead comrades and of our sons who are offering their lives in this conflict, I am willing to accept the challenge and the responsibility that the voters of Pennsylvania and all the mothers and fathers of Pennsylvania will offer tomorrow.

Guided and sustained by the splendid example of our sons and brothers and with the help of Him who, in the words of the 46th Psalm, "maketh wars to cease" we will go forward.

God bless you and goodnight.
